A $5 per calendar day overdraft service charge will be assessed when the account remains overdrawn four (4) days or longer and will continue until the account is no longer overdrawn or is closed. The fees associated with these two charges are set forth in the current First Federal Bank Truth in Savings Disclosure. Fees assessed for use of Overdraft Privilege are included in the dollar limit allowed in your account. Overdraft Privilege will pay any checks, preauthorized debits, online banking transactions, ACH debits, and in-house transfers to loan and deposit accounts that cause the current balance to fall below $0.00 on your account, up to the overdraft limit on your account. Should your account remain in overdraft status for a period of fourteen (14) days with no deposit to the account, or should you fail to comply with any term or condition of this agreement, we reserve the right to close the account and turn it over for collection. Overdrafts will not be paid if your account is not in good standing, you are not making regular deposits, or you have too many overdrafts. First Federal Bank reserves the right not to pay any transactions that overdraw your account.
